Brave Women

Pioneers of Change

Trailblazers like Harriet Tubman, Emily Howland, and Frances Seward carved out a new future for all of us in this fiercely beautiful region. As the epicenter of the Women's Rights Movement over 100 years ago, the Finger Lakes region continues to celebrate women, both past and present, who have contributed to the freedom we experience today.

HISTORICAL STOPS

Pay a visit to the Harriet Tubman National Historic Park, a partnership park with the Harriet Tubman Home, the site of the equal rights activist and emancipator's home where Tubman lived for her later 50 years. Tour the Seward House Museum to learn how William Henry Seward's wife, Frances, was the strength and inspiration for the abolition and Underground Railroad movements in the household. Next door, stop by the New York State Equal Rights Heritage Center, a digitally interactive space celebrating the state's history of movements in civil, women's and LGBTQ+ rights.

Travel south to Sherwood, listed on The National Register of Historic Places as the Equal Rights Historic District. Several of the properties within this district were owned by freed slaves; others by prominent abolitionists and women's rights advocates who sprang from the Quaker faith. Find original women's suffrage posters at the Opendore Project Museum, housed in a portion of the Isabel Howland House. Then, visit the unique Howland Stone Store Museum and find among their cabinet of curiosities a piece of Susan B. Anthony's 78th birthday cake (1898).

WOMEN TRAIL BLAZERS

Harriet Tubman, the Moses of her people and a conductor on the Underground Railroad, settled and remained in Auburn for the latter part of her life. Here, she created the Home for the Aged, now part of the Harriet Tubman National Historical Park partnership. Visit Tubman's grave and leave a personal memento at the historic Fort Hill Cemetery in Auburn.

Sisters Georgiana and Caroline Willard commissioned the renowned Tiffany Glass and Decorating Company of NYC to design and handcraft the entire interior of the Willard Memorial Chapel, showcasing stunning work in stained glass and mosaic tiling. Visit their finished chapel, which stands as the sole complete and unaltered Tiffany-designed religious interior known to exist.

Further still, explore the homeland of Auburnian Martha Coffin Wright, described by Ann Gordon as the "a stalwart of the state antislavery society and ...one of the inner circle of women's rights leaders." Wright attended the first Women's Rights Convention in the United States and contributed to the passing of the 19th amendment, which granted women the right to vote in 1920. challenge societal norms, and forge a future marked by fearlessness.

Wines

Inspired By Nature

With rolling hills and scenic landscapes, Cayuga County stands as a testament to nature's artistry. But it's not just the scenery that's captivating; it's the wines that are truly stealing the spotlight. Our winemakers have found inspiration in the very essence of nature, crafting wines that mirror the beauty and complexity of the environment that surrounds them.

NATURE'S PALETTE IN A GLASS

Winemaking in Cayuga County is an art form, where vintners channel the spirit of the land into every bottle. The fertile soil and deciduous climate provide the perfect conditions for a variety of grapes to flourish, resulting in an impressive array of wines. The Finger Lakes region is internationally renowned for Riesling, but is also known for its Cabernet Franc, Pinot Noir, Sparkling Wines, Chardonnay and Ice Wine, as well as wines made from Native and French American Hybrid grapes.

AN IMMERSIVE EXPERIENCE

Finger Lakes wineries tend to be on the smaller side, compared to west coast wineries, and many are family owned and operated. For this reason, it is not uncommon to meet an owner, winemaker or vineyard manager while visiting a winery.

Winery tasting rooms offer a variety of experiences, from casual walk-in tastings to more in-depth tasting experiences and tours available by appointment. Visitors can enjoy sipping wine in a tasting room, a cellar or in the middle of a vineyard with a beautiful view of Cayuga Lake or Lake Ontario. The scene is laid-back and casual, and the wineries offer warm, welcoming hospitality in addition to world-class wines.

From crisp Chardonnays that capture the essence of a dew-kissed morning to robust Cabernet Sauvignons that embody the richness of the earth, and delicate Rieslings that reflect the region's terroir, each sip speaks to the spirit of the land.

Great friends, great views and great wines await you.

Beer & Cider

The Craft Beverage Scene

In Cayuga County, a burgeoning craft beverage scene is captivating the palates of locals and visitors alike. Here, visitors can experience an array of craft breweries, cideries, and distilleries, each with its unique flavor profile.

BEER

Our region is world-renowned for wine, but we are also home to a growing number of award-winning craft breweries. The region boasts over 100 craft breweries located along the Finger Lakes that visitors experience across roughly 200 miles in central New York.

Cayuga County's breweries range from very small nano-breweries to cutting-edge microbreweries. Our craft beer scene is second to none, with each brewery offering their own special styles and flavors -- and creative, fun names that will undoubtedly pique your interest.

With eight breweries, you can enjoy scenic rural locations like Aurora, Locke & Moravia, or the bustling downtown regions of Auburn and Weedsport. You won't be disappointed at any stop. Ales, lagers, stouts, and sours: We've got them all. Many breweries now offer board games, live entertainment, trivia nights and more for guests, so pull up a chair, order your pint, and have a (responsibly) good time!

CIDER

In addition to wine, Upstate New York has always been known for its apple orchards and sweet ciders, but hard cider: the apple-based alcoholic beverage (typically about the strength of beer), is rising in popularity as the beverage of choice. Hard ciders can be dry or sweet, mild, or tart; made purely from apples, or with added ingredients like berries and spices.

Sterling Cidery in northern Cayuga County makes all of their craft ciders by hand, starting with fresh-pressed local apples. Their oaken and hopped ciders are aged with American oak and cascade hops, respectively. Pick your favorite to fill the growler to take home with you.

Grisamore Cider Works, and Galmor Farm in the south are also family run establishments serving up a crisp and refreshing cider, hard or not. Join the fun with tastings, often live entertainment and the rural setting of these craft beverage makers.

History books tell us that Thomas Jefferson and George Washington were huge cider fans, so why not make a little of your own history by enjoying a Finger Lakes Cider?!

CELEBRATING WOMEN BREWERS

The Brave Brews weekend-long winter festival takes place in Auburn, NY, at the beginning of March (Women's History Month).

The festival was inspired by the local success of Pink Boots Collaboration Brew Day[®] held at Prison City Brewing. This growing event encompasses First Friday programming in Auburn's Historic Sites, ice carving competitions, and Prison City Brewing's fire and ice festival.
